Royal Canin, the nutritional expertise through Health Nutrition

Our mission:

For over 45 years, Royal Canin has been committed to an approach leading to Health Nutrition with the aim of providing more precise nutritional answers, adapted to the specific needs of dogs and cats.

These answers are based on 2 clear and complementary sources: Observation and Science. Indeed, Health Nutrition implies perfect knowledge of the animal, enhanced by the expertise of breeders and professionals alike, in addition to research in partnership with scientists.

"Dog and Cat First" and "Knowledge and Respect" of dogs and cats have become the ethics of the brand, governing the development of each new invention. "Dog and Cat First" commitment fully conveys the central place occupied by the dogs and cats through our innovation process.

Royal Canin, the nutritional expertise through Health Nutrition

Our unique nutritional philosophy: nutrients at the heart of the ingredients

The formulation of our nutritional answers is like a complex puzzle of nutrients (proteins, lipids, glucides, amino acids, fatty acids, mineral salts, vitamins and oligo-elements), the construction of which means we can guarantee a constant nutritional formula and respect the needs of each dog. The main objectives of Health Nutrition are to maintain the organism, provide energy, nourish and support.

Families of nutrients

Carbohydrates :

The term "carbohydrates" mostly includes sugars, fibre and starch. They play an essential role in enhancing body function in dogs and cats.

Lipids :

More commonly called fats, they provide all of the energy that animals naturally require along with essential fatty acids, vital to body functions. Lipids also act on coat quality and contribute to a healthy nervous system.

Proteins :

They are composed of chains of hundreds of amino acids belonging to twenty different types (10 of which are essential in the dog and 11 in the cat), they contribute to forming and renewing tissue, muscle and the skeleton.

Minerals :

Macro-elements (calcium, phosphorus, potassium...) play a number of roles in the body, including ossification, energy and sensory impulses for example. Trace elements contribute, amongst other things, to healthy skin, bones and coat.

Vitamins :

They play a vital role in the body (skin renewal, antioxidants, skeleton...).

Water :

The animal's water requirements are mainly, but not entirely, met through drinking. The diet also contributes, firstly through its water content and secondly through the water produced as nutrients are assimilated (e.g. the use of one gram of lipids produces a little over one gram of water in the body).

BABYDOG MILK 1st age milk

From birth to weaning - 1st age milk

Included:

2kg bucket:
5 x 400g sachets

400g box:
4 x 100g sachets

HARMONIOUS GROWTH

For steady, harmonious growth, the composition of Babydog milk is as close as possible to bitch's milk.

DIGESTIVE HEALTH

Babydog milk contains carefully selected ultra-digestible proteins, and has a lactose content very close to that of maternal milk. It is particularly suitable for the puppy's digestive system, because it does not contain starch (very young puppies don't secrete enough enzyme to digest starch). The puppy's intestinal flora develops gradually over several weeks. The addition of prebiotics (FOS) contributes to supporting digestive health.

INSTANT MILK

With its exclusive formula, Babydog milk dissolves instantly and completely, with no sediment, creating a totally homogenous formula (see the utilisation guide).

ADDED DHA

The puppy's nervous system continues to develop after birth. DHA naturally present in maternal milk supports the development of cognitive function.

INGREDIENTS

Composition

Milk retentate, milk fat, refined palm oil (from sustainable sources), whey protein, refined soja oil, refined coprah oil, minerals, fructo-oligosaccharides (0.5%), fish oil (source of DHA), fungi oil source (source of arachidonic acid).
